

News

After a classmate shoots her and turns the pistol on himself, a Punjabi law student dies.

Mai Bhago legal College, a private legal school in Tarn Taran, Punjab, is where both students are enrolled for their first year.

A law student was killed in Monday's shooting at Punjab's Mai Bhago Law College, and the gunman, who turned the weapon on himself, is critically injured.

A male student is seen getting up, turning around, shooting a weapon at a classmate, and then shooting himself in a CCTV footage of the classroom that has gone viral on social media.

According to reports, the victim is Sandeep Kaur, a native of Naushera Pannaun, while the other student is Prince Raj, a resident of Mallian village.

The CCTV timestamp indicates that the event happened at 9:17 AM today.

The Tarn Taran police are looking into the student's motivation and the source of the firearm.

Please call the helpline listed below if you or anyone you know is experiencing mental health problems or is contemplating suicide or self-harm.

Health Helpline: iCall 9152987821, Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. English, Hindi, Marathi, Gujarati, Bengali, Assamese, and Kashmiri are among the languages spoken.

Aasra provides help to people and families in times of emotional crisis, for those who are struggling with mental health problems and suicidal thoughts, and for those who are experiencing trauma following a loved one's suicide.